As you can see from Stephens email below this case is now still going to court. I have queried the matter with the solicitors this morning and have been advised that.....

On Friday, the spmr refused to sign off a settlement he had proposed and consequently this case is going to trial.

This is all I know at present but I envisage more coming to light as we get nearer the date.

Apologies for the confusion but will keep you informed as soon as I get anything.

I am confused by this email so I have queried it with both Stephen Dilly and Graham Ward (PO Investigations) this morning, to see if I can get an explanation for the sudden change.

Will keep you informed.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

Just to confirm the case is still going to trial starting on 4 December 2006. We are endeavouring to agree a sensible trial timetable with Mr Castleton's solicitors and I will update you again as soon as I am able.

In the meantime, if there are any dates when you cannot make it which you have not already given me, please let me know and copy in my colleague Tom Bourne thomas.bourne GRO

Kind regards.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

There was been a procedural hearing at Court yesterday to review the timetable on this case and set new directions.

The Master decided that, amongst other things, the trial must proceed in December 2006. Accordingly, it will commence on 4 December 2006 and will probably last 7 to 10 days. It will take place at the Royal Courts of Justice, London. As previously indicated, please could everyone who has given a witness statement blank out two weeks in your diaries starting on 4 December 2006 and keep these dates free for the time being. You will not be required to attend for the whole of that time and we liaise with Mr Castleton's solicitors:

1. to agree that as many of you as possible should not have to attend Court to give oral evidence. (For example, I'm hoping to persuade them that most if not all of our witnesses from P.O Chesterfield and P.O Leeds should not attend. If they agree, this will help shorten the trial and save costs); and
2. for those of you that are needed to attend, we have a timetable, so we can give you a specific time for when you will be required to be there to keep the inconvenience to a minimum.

I will keep you fully updated as and when I hear further, which is likely to be some time after 10 November at the earliest.

In the meantime, if there are any particular dates from the 2 weeks commencing 4 December 2006 onwards when you definitely cannot attend Court, please let me know as soon as possible.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards.

Yours sincerely

Stephen Dilley
