Hello Penny

How is the weather? We have had a slight thaw but our side roads are still treacherous and we had to have a push on Saturday coming out of the supermarket.

Could you please see the attached email from our solicitors, will this fall into the "expert witness statement" category?
Perhaps this is something that we could cover off at our meeting next week and then I have a better understanding of what I am asking you for.

Kind regards

Jane

Dear Juliet McFarlane,

Thank you for your time on the phone this morning.

I appreciate your agreement to assist me as the IT expert instructed in this case to obtain from the Post Office or their Horizon system service providers Fujitsu:

1. Access to the appropriate person with whom I can discuss how to access an unencrypted version of the transaction files held on the sub-post office terminals related to the Hosi case.
2. Access to the appropriate person with whom I can discuss the structure of the transaction files, the mechanisms by which they are synchronized with the central system and the records held centrally.
3. An unencrypted copy of full transaction log of the sub-post office terminals related to the Hosi case.
4. An unencrypted copy of the corresponding records held by the central system

I am happy for the relevant person to contact me direct using my e-mail or mobile phone number in the first instance.

As I am sure you will appreciate, Jeffrey Davidson, in his accountant's expert report, has identified some unusual features in the pattern of accounting discrepancies, and in the limited window available before 2nd February, time is of the essence in investigating whether these unusual features relate to the actual pattern of underlying transactions and possible system problems.

Yours,
