Rachael / Mark,

Below is an email I've just sent to Beverley with comments on her report.

I expect to be able to re-assure her that there aren't any issues with the data she has, and that any mismatches are due to missing bits of paper or perhaps unclear descriptions of the evidence, but I can show her in the logs what actually happened and that there is no issue with the system.

Not sure what that means to either of you or how you want to play things tomorrow.

Feel free to ring me on my mobile either tonight or in the morning if you want further clarification. I'll also pick up emails first thing in the morning.

Regards

Gareth

Dear Beverley,

I've now gone through your report and annotated it with a number of comments. I have also produced a spreadsheet with some of my calculations. (I've not had a chance to explain them properly, but can talk you through what you don't understand.)

It may be helpful if we could go through this and see what we agree about and what we don't. I understand the trial starts at 10am. What time can you get to court? I'm staying across the road so I can get there as early as you like.

Regards

Gareth
