Subject: RE: Updates for individual MPs

Hi Ian,

I understand perfectly. I think I ought to talk to James about this when he gets back next week, and it may be that he will need to have a chat.

In the end, beyond the results of the thematic investigations, what will individuals get back from the investigations? Their expectation and desire will be to have their innocence proved, or a clear explanation of what has gone on that offers 'closure' (dreadful word) on their experience as Post Office employees. If this is NOT what is going to happen, then James will need to think through how to present this to the MPs.

Anyway, leave this with me, and I'll come back to you both next week.

All the very best
Janet
