As discussed, I attach a confidentiality agreement for Kim. It's in word form so as to enable you to add in Kim's address.

As far as your engagement with Post office is concerned (which is for forensic accountancy services) it is a matter for Second Sight to assure itself that it meets any professional, regulatory and insurance requirements in terms of the staff/contractors it engages. Second Sight will also remain responsible for the assessing the suitability of those staff/contractors and any activities they undertake. Post Office will continue to require that it is notified of any new staff/contractors to be deployed by Second Sight under the terms of the engagement letter and that those staff/contractors complete a confidentiality agreement.

To facilitate this, and to ensure that Post Office is able to properly assess value for money on work done—a necessary requirement of all its contracts – Second Sight has committed to consider how the existing charging arrangements can be amended to better reflect productivity and deliverables relating to individual case reports.

Best wishes
Belinda
