Subject: FW: Draft of Final Report re: Misra
Attachment: Final Technical Expert's Report Re Misra - Draft 2010-09-30 v0.1.NoApp.doc

Resent with zipped attachment to see if that will get through the mail system limits.

I still can't get the document through. I've now removed the appendices and it should now go through OK. If you want any of the appendices please ask me and I'll try and split them out into separate emails.

Jarnail,

As discussed, this is what I've received from Charles McLachlan the Defence expert in the West Byfleet case.

I'm concerned about the tone and some of the things being attributed to me. I'm in the process of annotating the document with my thoughts / comments.

Charles spoke to me earlier this morning and has arranged to discuss my views with me at 4pm this afternoon. At this point (page 14 of 44) I'm reluctant to have that conversation without some further guidance.

When I get to the end of the document, I'm happy to pass on my annotated copy (hopefully later today).

NB I have a separate (large) email with the embedded attachments, but I assume you can read them within the main document. If not then I can forward them on separately.

Regards

Gareth

Subject: Draft of Final Report re: Misra

Dear Gareth,

Please find the draft of my Final Report re: Misra.

I should like to speak to you a little later today to ensure I can make any corrections required and include any points of disagreement you may have as a final appendix.

What would be a convenient time?

Charles

Dear Issy,

I attach a draft of my final report for your consideration. I have embedded the various Appendices in the document so that they are kept together but I have also sent them to you separately already.

I look forward to your comments. If you wish to discuss it then drop me a text or e-mail as my phone will be out of range after 7pm.

Yours,
