When I last spoke to him the plan consisted of letting it get raised in a case, resist it and see where we get to.

think I'll look up criminal sets as I wasn't bowled over by the bp ones.

He says that he is coming up with a plan .....suspect may be quicker as you suggested to go to Counsel for views, suspect we could use the junior at the BP meeting to do a quick written opinion

Hugh/Susan— please see cartwright kings email. I raised this with you and briefly discussed this with Hugh last week with our possible approach or view. No doubt it will be tested in the courts or until or unless Second sight has reported. jarnail

Dear Jarnail,

I will forward original advice, but this woman was always going to challenge Horizon. I take the view that we now need a clear steer from the centre. Defence are likely to seek a stay. To simply respond by saying Horizon is robust will be met with, "If so why the audit ?". At present we do not have information to meet this sort of challenge. Please advise.

Morning Andy

As anticipated, please see attached letter from defence solicitors in Wylie asking for our position on the ongoing Horizon investigation.

Steve Bradshaw is the investigator in this case. I have given Steve our copy of the Fujitsu report which deals with the old Horizon system - (the old system being relevant in this case due to the period of wrongdoing). Steve is in the process of getting the committal papers together before the committal hearing which is listed for the 7th August at Newcastle Mags.

Let me know how you would like me to respond,

regards

Rachael
