Chris

I have read the recent review of POL prosecution and investigation by BAQC . It doesn't include the disclosure issues in my email below.

Chris

In my view this is a very positive document. I would add

1. I have overview of all investigation and prosecution matters summited /referred to and by CK . All CK advices come to me ,which I disseminate promptly.

2. A point which BAQC seems not to mention: that of disclosure and POL's duties in that respect if POL were to abrogate their prosecution function. If the CPS were to take over POL prosecutions:

- POL would still be duty-bound to provide all of the Horizon disclosure material to the CPS both generally and on a case-specific basis;
- Where a defendant blames Horizon, the CPS would always come back to POL for both expert evidence and disclosure material;

- POL would still need a new expert able to provide the CPS with the necessary specialist knowledge of Horizon so that the CPS, may prosecute efficiently and properly.
  - So POL would still have to identify, record and retain all Horizon-relevant material as required .
- I hope this helps.
Jarnail.

Chris

I look forward to meeting you tomorrow at the meeting with Brian Altman QC which will take place at 16.00 hrs at his chambers at 2 Bedford Row. I have sent a link of the location to Amanda for your benefit.

I also attach a draft copy of Brian's forward looking report dealing with a review of POL's prosecution role. Whilst this is still marked "draft" it is in effect his final form report. I have been liaising with him today over a few issues which he has now addressed.

Could I please ask you not to circulate this report internally at POL. After the meeting with Brian I will send the final report to you.

Kind regards
