To see suggestion from a lawyer here. Not sure it matters too much.

Suggest POL Legal or her office instead of Police.

An additional thought from me. If JA does make the accusation that there have been or are likely to be cases of wrongful conviction or miscarriages of justice, can I suggest that JS immediately pick him up on this with the following lines or similar:

- I feel I must speak at this stage
- The Honourable Member is making some very serious allegations indeed
- I would say to him, as a matter of public record, that if he is in possession, or aware of the existence of, any evidence to support those allegations, he should immediately disclose this to the police

Suggested responses to the additional questions prompted by JS' chat with JA.

For the sake of expediency, I am copying internal colleagues for their comments please – to be copied to all please.

I would be particularly grateful for the views of Jarnail on the criminal aspects of this and Andy P to check I have done the Statute of Limitation bit justice.

Best wishes

Patrick
