Subject: RE: Post Office Limited -v- Mr Lee Castleton

Dear Davlyn,

Further to our telephone conversation today, I confirm that I am available to meet on Thursday (preferably morning) next week with you and Liz. Once Liz gets back from holiday, please can you ring me to confirm time and venue (probably Rawdon). My mobile telephone number is GRO

I look forward to hearing from you as soon as possible.

Kind regards.

Subject: Post Office Limited -v- Mr Lee Castleton

GRO FAD 213337

Dear Ms Morgan and Ms Cumberland,

I act on behalf of the Post Office. From approximately 18 July 2003 to 23 March 2004 Mr Castleton was a sub-postmaster at 14 South Marine Drive, Bridlington. His contract provides that he is strictly responsible for the safe custody of cash and stock and to make good any losses caused through his own negligence, carelessness or error and also loss of any kind caused by his assistants.

The Post Office has issued a claim against Mr Castleton to try to recover the net losses that accrued whilst he was a subpostmaster. Mr Castleton has issued a counter claim claiming wrongful termination of his contract. The P.O's claim is for the sum of £25,858.95 plus interest and costs.

Mr Castleton's defence is that the apparent shortfalls are nothing more than accounting errors arising from the operation of the Horizon computer system.

Mr Castleton was suspended on 23 March 2004. On 10 May 2004, Cath Oglesby (then the retail line manager) interviewed Mr Castleton. After the interview, she sent copies of the cash and suspense accounts to you and you confirmed to her that you could not see anything wrong with the way that the computers were working.

I would like to discuss with each of you whether you have any recollection of this matter, any records of what it was you looked at and if so, whether you
