Tony, Simon

Please find attached Robert's report. This is what he is calling a "foundation report". It is the basic building block on which he will then produce his full report. The point being that he can hopefully copy large parts of the attached into the final report.

I would not therefore be too fussy about the exact drafting (Tony....!) but Robert would like comments on whether we think the general tone and approach is sound.

I've also attached an addendum that Robert has sent over that contains a further line of enquiry he wants to explore.
