Thanks for this Mark

We are planning to do the story tomorrow because – having seen the Second Sight report today – we think it's very interesting to our audience, and newsworthy. There is no embargoed date to the report and that's probably why our planning desk didn't flag it up with us today.
I appreciate it's now frustrating on your part given you tried to speak to us about the story last week. Apologies for this.

However, we are planning to go ahead tomorrow, particularly as it's now likely to be covered by other news outlets.

Would someone from the Post Office be available for the Today programme?

I'm copying in Laura Cooper who's night editing tonight, and today's Day Editor is Gilly Orr.
The programme's overall editor is Jamie Angus who's email is [GRO]

Best,
Purvee Pattni

Dear Charlotte and Purvee

I attach copies of both the Second Sight report which - to stress - we are making available to you , and our full response to it.

I would like to know why it is that it necessary to broadcast on this issue tomorrow, and only to provide notice of that to us now, when it was offered to the BBC on Thursday?

This does not reflect fair treatment of our organisation, particularly as we acted in good faith in offering to provide copies of both reports last Thursday.

Best wishes

Mark
