All

Following the discussion on Monday morning, we have now produced the attached paper which sets out the rationale for the proposed strategy of addressing as a priority the question of the proper construction of the postmaster contract.

Included in the paper is the summary of options which we discussed on Monday (Appendix 1), as well as a summary of the duties which Freeths seek to imply, and the possible actions that Post Office could take as a result of an adverse decision (Appendix 2).

I would then propose to use the paper as speaking notes at the Board on Tuesday to explain the rationale for the decision.

Kind regards,

Jane
